An Account of the Editor's Going

Away—and Return

The reason this column was gone from here last week was that the editor was observing Old Home Week with kinfolk, which is a strenuous business; and you can add to that the further fact that I spent 11 hours riding three planes and waiting around two airports in order to get back here Sunday night.

Usually I never see Florida during the peak tourist season, but I caught the tail-end of it this time by necessity: I was down there to help my sisters celebrate our father's 85th birthday. Getting home again was something else. This time of year the tourist tide is pouring out of Florida and your customary airline route may be booked, as mine was, for a solid week ahead.

So I maneuvered around and finally managed for a plane from Tampa to Birmingham Sunday morning, waited there two hours, caught another from Birmingham to Memphis three hours later, and then flew into Texarkana early Sunday night.

A quick trip in the spring of the year will tell you more about your home section than you ever knew. Arkansas looks absolutely good in comparison with southeast U.S.A. For one thing, our climate, at least in southwest Arkansas, is virtually identical with that of the north Gulf coast. Foliage the first week in April is the same in Hope as in central Louisiana and Gulfport, Miss.

And flying home by way of Memphis I had my first extended air view of great stretches of our state. Trans-Texas uses DC-3 planes, and they fly not too fast and not too high, making frequent stops. So you see every detail of the land, and of the airports at which you put down.

On this particular flight Sunday afternoon we left Memphis at 4:15, went down the Mississippi river and picked up passengers and mail at Helena at 4:42. The next stop was at Stuttgart at 5:09. Then Pine Bluff at 5:27. From Pine Bluff we jogged north to Little Rock at 6:01. From Little Rock we went to Hot Springs, landing at 6:34.

Up to this time we had been flying around 1,800 feet, compared to 12,000 and 8,000 on the metropolitan runs. But coming out of Hot Springs for the jump to Texarkana, completed at 7:15, we built up more altitude. The reason was obvious. From the north windows of the plane you could see a long and close line of mountains.

We pulled away from them a bit as we flew southwestward for Texarkana. But even in the growing dusk I was able to find far to the north of us the lights and radio-tower beacon of the Narrows dam. The lights of Hope came up blazing just to the south, and we passed over the north end of the Hope airport.

The obvious commentary is, it's too bad Hope has no scheduled air service with the largest and finest airport in the state. And there isn't much more difference in flying time between Texarkana and Hope than between Helena and Stuttgart, or Stuttgart and Pine Bluff.

I've mentioned it before in our column, and it is something we ought to follow up: We should find out from Trans-Texas Airways what kind of monthly ticket guarantee they ask in order to put a town on their schedule.

Possibly the guaranty could be underwritten by the larger business houses of Hope, with any tickets sold being credited against the guaranty. It would mean direct air mail service, plus a lot in prestige for our town.

Shooting, Auto Accidents Are Probed by Police

A shooting and two automobile accidents were investigated by City Police over the weekend.

Jessie Easter, Negro, is charged with aggravated assault pending possible other charges, for shooting Eulas Palmore with a shotgun on Allen Street Sunday night. Pellets hit Palmore in the head, arm and shoulder. He is not seriously wounded.

Alma Foster of Hope was charged with following too close after an accident in which an auto owned by James Hollis and driven by Alma Foster collided with another driven by John G. Williams of Dallas. The accident occurred on S. Main and the Hollis auto was badly damaged.

Autos driven by Charlie Conway, Negro, and Ola Mae Stewart, Negro, collided at Avenue B and Walnut Saturday afternoon with both vehicles sustaining considerable damage.

Brownell Frowns on Outlawing Communist Party

WASHINGTON (UP)—Attorney General Brownell today strongly opposed legislative proposals to outlaw the Communist party in this country. He said such action would hinder rather than help the drive against communism.

The attorney general told a House Judiciary subcommittee that any law making it a crime, of itself, to join the party, would send the movement entirely underground and "increase the already difficult investigative job of the FBI."

In addition, he asserted that such a law would raise constitutional questions which would certainly be tested at great length in the courts, thus interfering with the numerous actions now being taken to curb communism by bringing the organization and its members into the full light of publicity.

In lieu of outlawing the party, the attorney general offered the subcommittee 10 suggestions of his own for tightening the laws relating to communism.

French Wage Bloody Fight Against Reds

HANOI, Indochina, (UP)—French union forces stormed from their foxholes today in a second counter-attack against Communist force who have made six desperate but unsuccessful efforts to win back a strategic hill overlooking Dien Bien Phu.

Bloody close-quarter fighting was in progress around the hill which overlooks both the besieged fortress and the Communist positions east of Dien Bien Phu. It is only half a mile from the French command headquarters.

It was the second of a big French Union counter attack of the week-end. In the first Col. Christian De Castries sent tanks to the hill to save the French and loyal Viet Namose troops who had beaten back five battalion-size Communist attacks.

French artillery went into action from the strategic height against the enemy but the Communists mounted a sixth attack during the night. It failed and the French moved out of their foxholes with bayonets fixed.

Communist troops have tunneled ever closer to the heart of the besieged fortress for the past week and French sources said the enemy slashed a trench through the southern French airstrip today rendering it useless.

Shoulders to Trial for Perjury

KANSAS CITY, (UP)—The second of two perjury trials involving the Greenlee kidnapping ran a som money opened in Federal District Court here today.

He's charged with lying before a federal grand jury in connection with handling ransom money recovered from Carl Austin Hall, who, along with Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, was executed for the crime.

Considers a Hangover Man's Built-in Barrier to Protest Home From Further Foolishness

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (UP)—For some years a group of scholar scientists at Yale University has been studying the problem of what people do to alcohol and vice versa, and now they are investigating hangovers.

It can't be done. Frank Merrill was unable to find a hangover remedy during the period when he made Yale famous. Tom Swift and the Rover Boys, I have heard, spent their adult years in quest of an electric or atomic answer to the hangover, and found no answer.

Even Toots Shor, the restaurant owner who collects the more interesting hangovers of his clients and passes them in his memory book as a hobby, can recommend no morning after remedy better than "bloody mary," which is vodka, tinted pink with tomato

Nancy Hays
Lynchburg, Va. — Mrs. Nancy Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, has been elected president of Pi Beta Phi national social sorority at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, for the 1954-55 academic year.

Miss Hays, a member of the junior class, was rush captain for her sorority this year. She assisted with freshman orientation in September as an assistant training group leader and is a member of Omega society.

Court Declines to Set Aside Bequest

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Relatives of the late William B. Folsom of Brinkley today lost an effort to set aside a will under which he left around $100,000 for support of a public library at Brinkley.

The Arkansas Supreme Court rejected contentions of the relatives, the closest of which are a nephew and a niece, that Folsom was mentally incompetent when he executed the will in 1949.

If the court had found for the relatives, they and not the library, would have received the bulk of Folsom's estate.

At about the time he made the will, Folsom deeded his Brinkley home to the city to be used for a library.

In the will he bequeathed $2,000 to Jack W. Yarbrough of Memphis, a nephew $1,500 to Ellen Jones Yarbrough of Wynne, a niece two smaller bequests to two other relatives and $2,000 to the Rev. O. C. Harvey.

The remainder of the estate he bequeathed for maintenance of the library.

C. Hamilton Moses, now board chairman of the Arkansas Power and Light Co., and a long time friend of Folsom's, was designated executor. Moses was bequeathed certain items of furniture which he later declined.

After Folsom died on May 20, 1953, at the age of 85, Yarbrough and other relatives sought to have the will set aside or ground that Folsom was mentally incompetent when he made it shortly after the death of his wife.

Both the Monroe Probate Court and, on appeal, the Supreme Court rejected this assertion of mental incompetency.

The estate was found to total $108,735.75, approximately all of which was in cash.

Folsom and his wife had lived in Brinkley for more than 40 years and Folsom specified that the library was to be known as the "Harriet M. and William B. Folsom Library."

Sons of Man Who Refused to Spy Are Freed

FRANKFURT, German y. (UP)—Communist Romania today freed the two young sons of Valeriu C. Georgescu, a Romanian-born American who had refused to be blackmailed into spying to win their release.

Misty-eyed, the father and sons were reunited in West Germany. It was the first time Georgescu had seen the boys since 1947 — when he and his wife left Bucharest on a two-month visit to the United States.

"As a representative of American capital he was president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in Romania," they wouldn't let me come back," he said, "and refused to let our sons join us."

The boys are Constantin, now 19 and Peter 15, who smile as they talked with their father. Mrs. Georgescu remained in New York. "I hardly recognized them," Georgescu said, "They have grown so much."

He said the boys were allowed to leave Romania because of the help of the U. S. State Department. He said he would rather not divulge details.

"All I want to say," he said, "is that we're most grateful to those who helped us."

The State Department said last May 26 that Christache Zambeletti, first secretary of the Romanian delegation, tried to subvert Georgescu into spying for the Communists.

"The price for this collaboration," the State Department said, "was to be the welfare" of the two sons.

But Georgescu refused. After Zambeletti's visit, Georgescu reported the incident to the State Department, which forced the recall of the Romanian diplomat. Zambeletti left, complaining he had been framed.

Georgescu said here he did not know until two weeks ago that his son would be permitted to leave Romania. He flew to Munich, where he met them earlier today when they arrived by plane from Vienna.

"I haven't even had a chance yet to talk to them much," he said, putting his arms around the shoulders of the two boys, both of whom are now taller than he is. Neither of the boys can speak English.

Business Outlook Is Reported Good

By DAYTON MOORE

WASHINGTON (UP)—Government economists reported today that the overall business outlook is encouraging.

But they did not say the economic decline has ended. They generally expected business to "bump along" around present levels — with some minor up and downs in various fields — for a few months and then turn upward.

President Eisenhower's economic aides are encouraged that economic signs are mixed — some favorable and some unfavorable. They take this as an indication that the business decline is leveling off.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers are speeding development of plans for a multi-billion-dollar public works program. But the administration does not expect to have to use it as an anti-recession measure in the foreseeable future.

Pioneer Hope Woman Succumbs in Rhode Island

Mrs. Jennie Giles McWilliams, aged 83, a pioneer resident of Hope, died Sunday at Providence, Rhode Island.

Mrs. McWilliams had for many years made her home with her sister, Mrs. John S. Gibson, and at the time of her death was visiting a niece, Mrs. Frances S. Johnson of Providence.

She is survived by nephews, Carter Gibson of Johnson City, Tenn., John S. Gibson Jr., Charles Dana Gibson of Hope, Fred and James L. Gibson of Little Rock, great nieces, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Alton Terry of Lake Jackson, Texas, great nephews, John S. Gibson III, U. S. Air Corps in Japan and Charles Dana Gibson Jr. of Hope.

Funeral arrangements are in complete pending arrival of the body.

Lucille Wall

Three major aims were set up by the group for the campaign, Appearance, Health, and Safety.

Prior to this meeting inspectors had been assigned to each ward and these reports will be on hand for the future meetings held by the various groups responsible in the different wards.

Area assignments were made and accepted as follows:

Ward 1 — Rotary Club, Rose Garden Club, Gardenia Garden Club, Lilac Garden Club, Greenmaster Home Demonstration Club, and all of the churches located in Ward 1.

There is to be another meeting held for the Negroes who will be assigned all of the colored sections of the town.

The Retail Merchants were assigned the town for inspection, work, and supervision.

A special attempt will be made through all of the schools to encourage the school children and school faculties to participate and work in their respective wards. The American Legion will work in both Wards 2 and 3 and the VFW will work in both Wards 1 and 4. The primary responsibilities of these service organizations are the East and West and North and South approaches along our highways. The Boy Scout will cooperate in every ward and fill in as much as possible.

The details and break-downs on the various wards will be assigned this week and all work assignments will be made so that active work can begin on Monday, April 19 in this most worthwhile and important community-wide project.

Just about everyone will have an opportunity to get in on the act, let's get ready and make Hope the cleanest and prettiest town in Arkansas this year.

Etter who is an elder in the Presbyterian Church, will represent Quachita Presbytery, and as a commissioner will consider, among other things, the proposed union of the United, U. S. (Southern) and U. S. A. (Northern) Presbyterian Churches.

Dulles Urges British to Warn Reds Now About Indochina Intervention

U. S. Ready to Go Limit in Halting Commies

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The big fact behind Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' urgent journey to London and Paris is the Eisenhower administration's readiness to spend without limit to beat back the Communist invasion of Southeast Asia.

The situation is critical, probably more so than the American people realize. The administration's eagerness to spend money is a fair measure of its determination not to spend American blood.

President Eisenhower and Dulles have carried American foreign policy to a new and critical stage in recent weeks. Dulles, emergency visit to England and France naturally followed British and French reluctance to go along with the new policy.

The President alerted the nation to the country's new position about three weeks ago when he told a news conference that Indochina was of extraordinary, primary importance to the free world. Mrs. Eisenhower gave Indochina a priority of importance and significance comparable to that of Korea.

Two weeks ago in New York Dulles spelled it out. He said the United States policy was that Communist domination of Southeast Asia by whatever means should be resisted by unified action. That put the United States squarely in the way of Communist efforts to dominate that area either by military or political conquest.

It committed the United States to unified action against such domination, either through the United Nations or, apparently, by the joint action of free states.

Bullets Fatal to Chicago Racketeer

CHICAGO (UP)—Police gave three accused narcotics racketeers freedom today without benefit of police guard — after their bullet wounds suffered in a gangland shooting.

Pape, a cop-killing hoodlum suspected of leading a heroin ring, died in a hospital bed last night of wounds received in a typical underworld shooting early Saturday.

There were reports that three other gang associates of the 40-year-old ex-convict had also received death warnings but they were released from police custody after questioning in Pape's shooting.

They are Joseph Accullo, 34, Tony Sperna, 34, and Frank Caduto, 47, all arrested with Pape in federal narcotics raids last month.

Lt. John Golden of the homicide bureau said Sperna told him: "It's no use trying to kid you, I'm scared."

McMath Opens Campaign for Senate Seat

SHERIDAN, W. — Former Gov. Sid McMath, "after intense and prayerful consideration," has made the "formal announcement" that he will be a candidate for the U. S. Senate in this summer's Democratic primaries.

Immediately launching an attack on U. S. Sen. John McClellan, whom he will oppose in the primaries, the 41-year-old McMath said:

"I know the fight will be difficult. It will be opposed by powerful corporate interests — interests that are bent upon a course of rule or ruin but with your help and the help of other citizens like you over the state, the fight can be won."

An estimated 300 persons crowded the Cane Creek Community House for McMath's 20 minute speech and the ensuing barbecue.

In Washington, Sen. McClellan said that the announcement "came as no surprise. 'Everyone knows he's been actively running against me for the past six years.'"

McMath said that McClellan, ranking Democrat on McClellan's investigation subcommittee, "has vacillated on the McCarthy controversy."

"As long as Joe was branding the Democrats as spies and traitors, our Johnny was saying, 'let it go, Joe, sic 'em.' It was only when McCarthy turned his guns on the Republicans that your senior senator started dragging his feet," said McMath, adding:

Situation More Critical Than Many Realize

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, seeking patch up a Big Three rift on southeast Asian policy, urged today to join an early armistice intended to head off Communist seizure of Indochina.

Informants said Dulles told British Foreign Secretary A. Eden the Western allies must unite from front. Both Indochina and Korea are up for negotiation. Geneva, beginning April 26, Russia and Red China, will be invited.

Dulles and Eden, who met the British Foreign Office, appeared to be searching for a premise on the timing of the London proposal for a war in Red China to keep hands off southeast Asia. Paris and London want to postpone any which could be interpreted as strong arm move, fearing a narrow the already slim chance of negotiating an Indochina settlement at Geneva.

Dulles is striving to get backing for a pre-Geneva action before he flies to Paris tomorrow to persuade the reluctant French.

Official sources said Dulles is a common declaration that will help the French to make a firm position at Geneva, any compromise and military loss Indochina would be ready for a pre-Geneva action before he flies to Paris tomorrow to persuade the reluctant French.

Across the English channel, French press manifested a less uneasiness today than previously over the Dulles plan. The Independent, Paris paper Le Figaro said, "We not refuse to join a declaration provided it does not take the form of an ultimatum."

Similar doubts about averting the H-bomb were voiced by Anderson (D-NM) and Arthur George Meany.

Slaughter Bitter About Being Traded

The old war horse was traded to the New York Yankees yesterday in a move that caught Slaughter, his teammates and St. Louis fans by surprise.

Slaughter broke into tears when he was told of the trade. Fans called it everything from "crazy" to a "dirty deal."

In return for their team captain the Cardinals got pitcher Mel Wright, who the Yanks recently farmed to Kansas City, and three other players who will be assigned to Cardinal farms later.

Club President August A. Busch, in announcing the trade, said: "The Cardinals are trying to build a young ball club. We are looking for an organization that will give us strong teams and pennant winners for years to come and we must look to the future."

"We have several very promising young outfielders with the Cardinals and in our system. They are knocking at the door of the Cardinals right now and we have to make a place for them."

Slaughter, 37, had been pegged as a probable starter in right field for the Cards' opening game. But the Birds' outfield now probably shapes up with Stan Musial in left,

Minneapolis in Cage Playoff

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Nervy Syracuse matches its comeback spirit against the fading genius of the Minneapolis Lakers tonight for the National Basketball Association championship.

The Nationals forced the NBA final playoffs into a decisive seventh game yesterday when Jim Neal, an obscure 6-11 reserve center, sank a 27-foot push shot in the last four seconds for a 65-63 victory. It squared the series at three games apiece.

The Lakers, heretofore supreme as money players, now find themselves with confidence shaken and fighting an inability to do things right in the tight spots.

Until this year, Minneapolis was unbeaten on the auditorium floor here in playoff games. It now has lost two in a row, both on long shots in the final seconds.

The Lakers still are slight favorites, largely on the theory that George Mikan, Jim Pollard and the other vets have the big game left.

Major Leagues to Open New Season Tues.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Were the major league races decided last March when Boston's Ted Williams fractured his collarbone and Milwaukee's Bobby Thomson broke his ankle?

Can the Red Sox overcome the early absence of Williams, their star slugger and put an end to the New York Yankees' long reign in the American League? Can Cleveland finally do it after finishing second to the Yankees three straight seasons? How about Chicago?

Can the Braves continue their momentum and overtake the Dodgers despite the loss of Thomson, their hard-hitting outfielder, for at least another month? Maybe the St. Louis Cardinals or the New York Giants can do it?

How much will Enos Slaughter help the Yankees? Only seven weeks after astounding the baseball world by selling 35-year-old Vic Raschi to the Cardinals, the world champions pulled off another shoeer late yesterday by acquiring the 38-year-old outfield star from the same club.

And what about Baltimore, which returned to the majors after 51 years to inherit the franchise of the St. Louis Browns? Will the Orioles give the same shot in the

Kellogg's Condition Is Very Serious

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Junius Kellogg, whose volunteered disclosures in 1951 broke the gambling scandal in college basketball, has slipped into virtual constant deliriousness at a Veterans Administration hospital here.

Kellogg, a member of the Harlem Globetrotters "B" team and former basketball star at Manhattan College, was injured critically when the car in which he was riding overturned April 3 near Fine Bluff, Ark. Four other Negro professional basketball players were injured less seriously.

Kellogg's doctor said last night the 6 foot 8 player from Portsmouth, Va., has reached a more critical stage and is delirious most of the time. He is paralyzed from a severed spinal cord and specialists at the hospital said surgery in his case would be of no benefit.

The doctor added that even if Kellogg should recover, he would be a paraplegic (paralyzed on both sides of his body from the waist down).

Ceiling Lifts on Student Labor

LITTLE ROCK — The $3,600 ceiling has been lifted on payments by schools in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference to athletes for student labor.

The ceiling — total for each school — was imposed to prevent "excessive" payments to athletes in a de-subsidization program. The College of the Ozarks protested that the maximum was unfair since there was no limitation placed on payment to other students.

The AIC has charged the league commissioner with responsibility of verifying actual employment of athletes receiving salaries.

A proposal by Southern State College that members hold spring football practice and a motion by Ozarks that AIC follow the lead taken by North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools on subsidization of athletes were rejected by AIC members.

KILL WITH CARE

Richards frowned. "It's standing up, and getting stronger as they check more. I felt sure it was that boy. But with this alibi, well, you can see where we're left? Chief Hughes took that gun from headquarters. I'm positive it's the boy's, even though I can't prove it. So what does that mean? Either he's mixed up in this himself, or he's protecting someone. Another thing, I've been to see Atwood again, checking with him on depositors who drew large sums in cash from their accounts. So far we've been able to find about $23,000 paid out in answer to those extortion demands."

"But Hughes wasn't one of them?"

"No, And there's more," Hughes in debt to Atwood?"

"Buddy He has turned over his installment accounts to the bank for collateral. Even so, he's short of operating cash, and his expenses are high."

"And Mayor Stone?"

"No," Richards said. "Don't forget Eddie. The other—well, it might be possible, but not that. Even when you think of mercy killings I can't see Stone in the role."

"Go on," Jim said.

"Remember I told you young Hughes was interested in photography? It seems he runs through an interest pretty fast. According to Chief Hughes, his son hasn't done anything with his photography work for some time. I insisted and he let me look in the darkroom. Lot of stuff, and a lot of equipment. But there's nothing there with cyanide in it. But there is an empty space on the shelf of chemicals, and there is a mark in the dust where a container had been."

"You point that out to Hughes?"

"Yes I thought for a moment the was going to start telling the whole truth. Instead he launched into a rambling story about how Eddie Stone still had the run of the Hughes' house. To hear him tell it, Eddie was devoted to young Tony. And Tony would go almost anything for Eddie you see what he was trying to explain?"

"That young Tony took the dentist's materials, for Eddie? That Eddie could have taken the bottle from the darkroom?"

"It could all be true," Jim said.

"And don't forget young Hughes is alibi so far. So what are you going to do about it?"

"It isn't something I want to rush to without being positive."

"Got Why don't you go home? I might as well stick around here as my motel room. Let your man on duty go."

"Pary, maybe."

"The this might help. I started the boy at headquarters digging at VerBruce's past as soon as he came in the picture. He's served time. A short stretch for manslaughter. Shot a man to death in a fight. Back East in the little town he came from."

"Might be a good reason he doesn't like guns any more," Jim suggested.

"Might be. I'm not going to ask you a lot of questions right now, Jim. But there's one thing I'd really like to know. Or at least to know your opinion. Did Eddie Stone really kill Chief Drover?"

"Under the circumstances," Jim said, "I think that'd be in the nature of a philosophical question. Even if the boy's hand actually struck with the dagger, the ice pick, whatever it was, could you say he was a killer? Or merely an instrument."

At 3 in the morning, Jim got up from the desk and stretched the stiffness from his legs. He had gone through six of the manuscripts, fanning at them now not so much for their contents, which were remarkably similar, but for a special page which might serve his purpose. So far his search had netted him only indifferent results.

He glanced at his watch, was reminded of the time 12 hours before when he had been late for that all-important promise with Nancy. He muttered: "It'd serve him right," and phoned Dr. Pardon.

Jim was a little disappointed that the doctor was awake, admitted to having just got home from the hospital.

"And how is Mansfield?"

"He's rallying nicely. If he were a little younger, I'd say he was out of danger. As it is, I'd still say he has an excellent chance."

"Will he need another transfusion?"

"I don't think so. Are you offering again?"

"Yes."

"All right. I'll call on you if there's any emergency. So you'd
